Want to Be Disliked?
Use Brain-Beats on Your Host and Guests

By BLAKE CRIDER, PILD

IF YOU want to win friends and influence the other fellow think. When you are invited out, take along a few brain-beats. I want to say, yes, I know the correct approach to learning from nature. I mean, I can solve your problems just as easy as a puzzle. I can split apart a problem and count a good fellow with you if he is willing to follow three steps. Follow these steps and I'll guarantee you'll win friends and influence the other fellow.

1. Be a good listener. Let the other fellow do all the talking and please him. Levee, you know the proper approach to learning from nature—consider him.

2. Use the right brain-beats. Learn their language andasing up with the other fellow. If you can do this, you'll be a success with the other fellow.

3. Be a good friend. Remember that the other fellow will feel better if you are friendly.

FROM CONGRESSMAN ANTHONY F. FLANNERY

SCOTT JOHNSON—The Capitol

WASHINGTON—On June 20, 1965, the Spectator, an important weekly in Washington, and I were invited to a dinner in the Capitol. We had the opportunity to meet with the Speaker of the House, Robert B. Livingstone. The dinner was attended by approximately 300 people. The Spectator, a little known but very respected weekly in Washington, has been very helpful in my efforts to represent the people of the State of North Carolina in Congress. I am very grateful to the Spectator for its support.

National Income—In recent years there has been some discussion in Washington about the national income and its relation to the economy. The President's Economic Report for 1965 shows that the national income in the United States was $645,000,000,000. This is an increase of $5,000,000,000 over the previous year. The increase is attributed to the growth of business activity and the increasing demand for goods and services.

RATES PROPOSED—The Federal Communications Commission has proposed to increase the rates on some services, such as long-distance calls. The increase will be about $1.00 per call. This is an increase of 25 percent over the present rate.

New Traffic Agreement—A new traffic agreement between the State Department of Public Safety and the Federal Communications Commission, effective to May 1, 1965, has been signed. This agreement provides for the exchange of information between the two agencies in order to improve traffic safety and reduce accidents.

Bogus Checks—Bogus checks have been very active this year. The State Department of Public Safety and the Federal Bureau of Investigation have cooperated to catch the forgers. The State Department and the FBI have arrested 20 forgers so far this year. The increase in the number of forgeries is attributed to the ease with which bogus checks can be made.

RESIDENCE—Even though we are aware of the dangers of residence, there are still a great many people who do not understand the importance of residence. They do not realize that residence is important not only to the individual, but also to society as a whole.

Washington Welcome—Washington is the most welcome city in the world. It is the capital of a country that is respected by all nations. Washington is the home of the President, the Congress, and the Supreme Court. It is the center of government in this country and is visited by many people from all over the world.

Nerves Jumpy? Rapid Transit Offers "Cure"

These days of crying while driving has led from downtown to garage and back over for many years. The Cleveland Interurban Rail Bus Co., which operates the Rapid Transit line into the Cleveland Union Terminal, has evolved a new technique which may help to soothe the nerves.

The company's motormen have been trained to do the slow-down "trick" at the start of the descent and at the Green Bridge. The plan called for the motorman to give the fast, sudden stop at the Green Bridge, as usual. But as the car rounds the corner behind the Green Bridge the motorman should suddenly bring the car to a stop, then continue on at a smooth, slow pace.

This method has been adopted by the motormen of the Rapid Transit line, and most of the customers have been pleased with the results. They say that the sudden stop has now been replaced by a slow, deliberate brake application, which is much gentler on the nerves.

As a training procedure, the motormen have had to learn how to handle the brake system of the cars so that they can apply it smoothly and gradually. This has required a great deal of practice, but the results have been well worth it.

The motormen are now being evaluated on how well they are able to handle the brake system and to apply it smoothly. Those who are not able to do so will be given more training. The plan is to have all the motormen using the slow-down "trick" by the end of the year.

The company is planning to install additional brakes on the cars so that they can be applied more slowly and gradually. This will require additional training for the motormen, but the company is confident that it can be done.
