Children Flocking To City Playspots

Faneuil Hall Please With Attendance Figures So Far; Boston Way in Third

Faneuil's new playground and recreational facilities have grown away with start figure and attendance figures showing that the children of the city have turned out quite well for a venture that is in its infancy.

By William Tauber

With the pleasure the creation of the recreation program has received for Boston's Faneuil Hall in recent months, the city council has received its first report and its attendance figures are so promising that the mayor is thinking of opening a similar playground in another section of the city.

The new playground is located on the southwest corner of Faneuil Hall, between the main gates and the entrance to the Boston Public Garden. It was opened last week and has been well received by the children of the city.

Ten percent of the young people of the Police Department, who have been assigned to the playground, have been assigned to the playground, and they have been on duty every day since it opened.

The playground is equipped with swings, slides, and other play equipment, and it has a large area for outdoor games. The playground is also equipped with benches and tables for parents and visitors.

The playground is located near the main gates of the Boston Public Garden, and it is easily accessible to the children of the city.

The playground is operated by the Department of Parks and Recreation, and it is open to the public every day from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. during the summer months.

The playground is a popular place for children to play, and it is well liked by parents and visitors.

A prayer for Independence Day 1937

ETERNAL GOD, Father of all nations, grant unto us such clear vision of the aim of war, such hearty hatred for the passions that drive it on, and such a sense of our responsibility, that we may earnestly desire and tirelessly seek that cooperation between nations which alone can make war impossible. As we run on with our inventions the world into one neighborhood, grant that he may not fail by his cooperation to make the world whole into one brotherhood. Break down all race prejudices, all ignorance paralyzing in national policies: thus we may in the spirit of peace and in the bond of national interests, which are made of that which is good for the world, and of the ambitions of those who by imperious compulsion seek a national greatness which, bred in blood, cannot endure; guide all nations who seek a just basis for international action in the interests of peace; and arouse in the whole body of the people an adventurous willingness, as they sacrificed for global war, so also for international goodwill to dare bravely, to think wisely, to decide rationally, and to achieve triumphantly.

Center Finds Clinics Meet City's Needs

The Eclipsed Observer has received from the New York City Health Department a report that shows that the city has improved its health and welfare services since the last report.

The report states that the city's health clinics have increased in number and that the services provided by them are improving.

The city's health clinics have been providing services to the residents of the city for many years, and they have been well received by the public.

Ohio Sets Up Fish Program

The Conservation Bureau, in its final meeting in Columbus, moved to establish a fish management program for the Ohio waters system. The plan, which has been in the works for several months, is designed to stabilize and improve the quality of Ohio's fishery resources. The program will focus on several key areas:

- Recreation: Enhancing fishing opportunities in Ohio's lakes and rivers.
- Fish Culture: Developing sustainable fish populations through controlled breeding and restocking efforts.
- Education: Promoting public awareness and appreciation of Ohio's aquatic resources.

Ohio Fish Program

- Recreation: Improving fishing facilities such as ramps, docks, and rest areas.
- Fish Culture: Implementing fish stock enhancement projects in Ohio's waters.
- Education: Developing educational programs to inform the public about the importance of conservation efforts.

Mammoth Fireworks Display is On Holiday Bill at Geauga Lake

Georgia Lake Park on State Route 43, a half-hour auto ride from Cleveland, has prepared a gala Fourth of July weekend for visitors.

Admission to the park and non-parking is free. The attractions of the resort have a range of appeal from young children to adults.

Each night, visitors dance to the music of Billy Colson and his orchestra to the question ballroom. A new party trick, 50 feet long and the largest in Ohio, is ready for the youngest.

Mayor Harvey B. Burton and Governor Martin L. Davey are scheduled to participate in the Citizenship Day program sponsored by the Citizens Council at the park on Monday with a program beginning at 3:30 p.m. A noontime fireworks display will be the opening attraction on Monday.

Launch rides on the lake, picnicking on the beach and in the park and swimming are some of the diversions that the lodging tourists will enjoy.

New facilities at the park this year include new picnic areas on the north end of Lake Park for the accommodation of thousands of guests in the event of a sudden rain.

Sumer School Held at Chambers

Special summer school classes are being conducted at Chambers school for some of the older five grades who need help in three subjects.

Miss Irene Davis, Chambers teacher, and Miss Ann Booth, of Stewart school, are in charge of the sessions, which are for new school attendance.

Enrollment better than expected was made for one week, children and old timers still come during the session, which is in full swing as a usual subject.
