Ashtabula to Meet Admirals In Cage Start

Tilt Set for Saturday at Shore: Expect to Win in Fast—and Close

Tilt Field, shore, and admirals play first basketball game of the season Saturday when they meet at the cage of the shore.

Ashtabula promises plenty of football—on the shore—this year, but the admirals have a fast team and close games are expected. The admirals will not look for defensive strength as far as it is concerned. Nevertheless, it is anticipated they will give a good fight. The cage will be well supported by fans of both teams.

A high-light of the entertainment is the dinner bridge. The party will be served dinner by the local girls. The game begins at 7:30 o'clock and the entertainment follows at 8 o'clock.

A benefit dance is scheduled for the evening of Feb. 8, when the home economics and manual arts classes will be featured. The benefits will be given to help defray the cost of equipment and materials used in the classes.

F O N and basha, shafts of ruggedness, plenty of heart and zest, that do you have? Stunt Night this year promises to be a veritable cavalcade of gayety and fun.

Along about this season early September comes and Stunt princesses in their regal gowns, with the final showdown this time on the stage of Manual Auditorium in the presence of the Stunt princesses. Fred B. Miller, head of the Department of Intramural Activities, is in charge of the program.

Girls gifted with some of the brightest garbs in 1948 will be the main attraction at this year's Stunt Nite. Girls from the University of Illinois and from Manual's sister schools--Oakland, St. Louis University, and Miami University of Ohio--will be seen in their finery.

The pageant will take place on Friday night, September 25th, and will feature the traditional parade and pageant. The guests of honor will be the Manual girls, though the audience will be well-represented by other schools.

Keep America Out of War, Cry of VFW

The membership of the VFW was spread fairly evenly among all ages. But it is the older members who made the greatest effort to keep the country out of war. They were the ones who had seen the horrors of World War I and were determined not to let it happen again.

BOMB-HIT Aces: 195

Bomber pilots who had been shot down in action, and then had returned to the United States, were always welcomed as heroes. They were treated with a great deal of respect and were often invited to speak at VFW meetings.

do you love him as desperately as... my poor dear child...

Joyce could hardly conceal her amusement as she sat in the corner of the room. "Oh, yes," she said, "you are right. But it's just that I love you so much."

"Bells" Are in Full Swing

The new bells were tolling throughout the city. They were a symbol of hope and optimism for a new beginning.

"Welcome Home!"

The soldiers who had been away for so long were greeted with open arms. They were welcomed back as heroes and were celebrated with parades and speeches.

"Thank you for your service."

The soldiers were thanked for their service and were promised that their sacrifices would not be forgotten.

"You are our hero."

The soldiers were praised for their bravery and were thanked for their service to their country.

"You did it!"

The soldiers were celebrated for their achievements and were thanked for their bravery.

"You have made us proud."

The soldiers were praised for their hard work and were thanked for their efforts to keep America safe.

"We will always remember you."

Child Labor Evil on Rise, Only U. S. Law Can Check It, Cleveland Judge Holds

The law, it seems, in this country, is not properly enforced. The laws for the protection of children in industries are not being observed, and the children are being subjected to hard work and musty air. The judge who has spoken about this issue is of the opinion that the only solution is to have a specific law that can check this evil. He believes that the U.S. should have such a law to protect the children.

Clothes and Charm

By MAROLYN Dearing

There are two other classes of people that you have to be careful of, and I have not been mentioned in my previous articles, the clothing and the charm. Women with those types of characteristics, can they be their word—no—yes! They are the ones that may surprise you. Their charm, their clothing style, or strange, is the one that will hook you.

There will be a drawing, a special entertainment, and a special dance.

Child Labor is an evil that must be checked. The adult wage earner and adult society in a whole, must be aware of this problem. It is a problem that is growing, and it can be dealt with only through strict enforcement of the laws that are in place. These laws are necessary to protect the rights of the children, and they must be enforced. The federal government has a role to play in this, as do the state and local governments. It is a problem that affects not only the children who are working, but also their families and communities.

Christmas Bedtime Story Told
In Lights at Nela This Year

The spectacular of Nela Park’s enormous "lighted outdoor festive card" which had Christmas attractions more than 300,000 holiday pilgrims will be officially turned on Saturday.

The new structural contrivance will offer the holiday visitor a viewing Christmas "snow" scene.

Thousands of many-tipped lamps, so arranged as to form a sequence of several red, green and white type confetti, will be in the air and will form an indescribable glowing pattern of spots, lines and starbursts.

When the display is turned on, the entire expanse of the park will be literally illuminated for a period of seven days, the time when the story and festival are to be presented.

The story is "The Whispering Snow," by Mrs. Lula G. Haynes, a local writer.

Young and old and all of the faithful friends of the Snow Queen, will be thrilled with her secret passage through the snowy branches of the myriad electrically created snowflakes. The story opens in real time for the Snow Queen, her nine little reindeer, and her magic horse, who are depicted as living in a fairyland world.

Snow Facts

Sunday and Monday the display will be turned off, and the scene will be given a thorough cleaning and refitted with new power packs and wires.

Watch Repairing

A new establishment offering watch repairing has opened at Nela Park. The new outlet promises to give the business a new lease on life by offering modern equipment and expert service.

Miss M. A. Wiles

Owner of the new establishment is a retired watchmaker who has been in the business for over 25 years.

The new location at Nela Park is a convenient spot for people to drop off their watches for repair. The establishment offers a wide range of services including watch repair, clock repair, and jewel repair.
